

Loan Management System

ABSTRACT

Organizations like Banks give loan to their customers based on certain conditions given by the loan scheme management board. These conditions must be clearly met by the customers before they qualify for the loan they are begging for. In this research, the loan scheme management system was studied in detail. The concept was well understood and the pros and cons were ascertained. The loan scheme management system was computerized in this case. Efforts were made to make them clear to everyone. The solutions were provided in a new computerized system developed in this study. The new system is timely automatic, comprehensive, interactive and energy saving.
